The New York Post celebrated its 100th anniversary last Saturday, and is still vigorous.

Gus Ruhlin says he "is willing to fight Jeffries again." Does Gus call the last brush he had with Jeff fighting? There wasn't enough of it to warm the other fellow up.

Mayor Johnson, of Cleveland, Ohio, has issued an order prohibiting raffles for Thanksgiving or Christmas turkeys. Tom is pretty sure of his turkey and doesn't take any chances.

Gen. Chaffee commuted the sentence of a Filipino priest convicted of conspiracy and murder from hanging to twenty years imprisonment on account of his calling. It was a pretty close call.

Senator Hanna persists in the declaration that there are no trusts. Mr. Hanna should immediately call on the Attorney General and enquire what he means by instructing his district attorneys to proceed against those three trusts out West.

Some Pennsylvania men have bought a 109,000 acre patch of land in Louisiana and expect to have the biggest cotton field in the world. It is timber land, but after they have worked up the timber they propose to cultivate it in cotton.

Mr. Pierce, who has been appointed Third Assistant Secretary of State, pronounces his name "Purse." There is evidently something wrong with Mr. Pierce or Mr. "Purse," for he seems to have gotten his spell and pronounce in a bad tangle.

Mr. Charles Steele, a partner of J. P. Morgan, says the recent big railroad combine will be "a benefit to the public." Of course it will. Who ever heard of a combine of any kind that the combiners didn't call a benefit to the public?

One of the active female participants at a meeting of an Ornothological Society in New York a few days ago wore a hat gaily decked with the wings and plumage of song birds. Perhaps she was exhibiting herself as an object lesson.

GEORGE CHADBOURN DEAD.

It is with exceeding regret that the STAR chronicles this morning the death of Mr. George Chadbourn, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Chadbourn, Jr., and a young man known and highly respected by very many people in Wilmington and elsewhere.

He died at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of his parents, No. 323 South Front street, after an illness of twenty-eight days with typhoid fever. He became ill at Chapel Hill, where he was pursuing postgraduate studies and was removed to his home in this city last Sunday two weeks ago, on the same day on which his sister, Miss Blanche King Chadbourn, was brought home with a fatal illness from St. Mary's, Raleigh. Although it was known that his condition was very serious, on the day before his death his loved ones thought that they could notice a slight improvement in his condition, but yesterday he grew rapidly worse and entered into rest at the hour indicated.

Mr. Chadbourn was a young man of many traits of splendid character and was popular everywhere for his manly bearing and genial spirit. At college he was a favorite and at home he was loved. He was born here April 27th, 1879, and was therefore in the 23rd year of his age. He was prepared for college under the classical tuition of the distinguished Dr. Morrelle, who was once well known in educational circles here. He graduated at the State University two years ago last June, but had returned to his alma mater to pursue postgraduate work in chemistry, for which study he had a natural and very strong inclination. It was while receiving the education that would better fit him for a life of usefulness and a bright promise that he was stricken down—at the zenith of young manhood.

Mr. Chadbourn was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Wilmington and a regular attendant upon the Sunday School. He is survived to mourn a double bereavement by reason of the death of his sister a little more than a week ago, by the grief stricken father and mother and two sisters, Miss Frances Chadbourn and Mrs. C. P. Bolles, Jr. The sympathy of the community go out to them more feelingly than words can tell.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church.

Sprained An Ankle.

Mr. Robert N. Harriss was very painfully but not seriously injured yesterday afternoon in receiving a badly sprained ankle as the result of a horse falling with him at Front and Princess streets. He was taken to his home and given the best attention, but it will be some time before he will be out again.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Officers Chosen for Wilmington Merchants' Association at Meeting Yesterday.

W. E. SPRINGER, PRESIDENT.

First Session of the New Fiscal Year Well Attended and Fully Enthusiastic—Mr. Heinsberger Re-elected Secretary and Treasurer.

Yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the newly elected Board of Directors of the Merchants' Association held its first meeting for the new fiscal year and organized by the election of officers and transaction of other routine business incident thereto.

Present at the meeting were Messrs M. W. Jacobi, W. E. Springer, J. M. Solky, C. M. Whitlock, George O. Gaylord, J. H. Thomas and Wm. Niestile. Mr. Jacobi called the members of the Board to order and requested Mr. Springer to preside. Mr. Springer stated the object of the meeting and the first step in the organization was an election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President—W. E. Springer.

First Vice President—C. M. Whitlock.

Second Vice President—J. H. Thomas.

Secretary and Treasurer—P. Heinsberger.

The selection of an executive committee was deferred until a subsequent meeting.

All the elections were unanimous and members of the Board present expressed themselves as highly pleased with the outlook for a prosperous year, pledging their best endeavors to this result. Mr. Springer was nominated for the presidency by Mr. Jacobi and in thanking the Board for the honor conferred upon him, he expressed the hope that the Association would take upon itself new life and early in the coming year reach a high standard which would be maintained throughout.

Mr. Whitlock was nominated for the first vice presidency by Mr. J. M. Solky, and in responding to a unanimous election, he likewise spoke words of encouragement for the Association.

Mr. Thomas' nomination for the second vice presidency was Mr. Jacobi and he, too, spoke of the great work possible for the Association.

Mr. P. Heinsberber, the enterprising and vigilant secretary of the Association, was renominated by Mr. Wm. Neistlie and elected without a dissenting voice. Mr. Heinsberger has been secretary of the Association since it was organized four years ago and that his work has been satisfactory finds abundant testimony in his re-election.

At the request of Mr. Whitlock the president appointed the following committee to meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the office of the Association for the purpose of taking into consideration an item of business of interest only to themselves: Messrs. George O. Gaylord, M. W. Jacobi and Chas. M. Whitlock.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION SERVICES.

Rev. J. A. Dorritee Was Heard by Large Congregation of Men Last Night.

There was an increased attendance last night at the meeting for men, conducted by Rev. J. A. Dorritee at the Y. M. C. A., and the interest manifested was very encouraging. Rev. Mr. Dorritee spoke in reference to "Lessons From the Life of Paul" and engaged the undivided attention of his hearers. Mrs. W. L. Latta rendered with splendid effect the solo: "What Will You do with Jesus?"

To-night Mr. Dorritee will talk on the subject, "It's Up to You," and Miss Norma Foster will contribute a vocal and a violin solo to the musical programme. She will sing "Nearer My God to Thee," and render on the violin "Barcuesce, from Jocelyn," by Godard.

Saturday night there will be a vocal solo and special music by a male quartette. Sunday afternoon Mr. Dorritee will close the week of prayer at the Association with a mass meeting for men at 5 o'clock, to which all are invited. For this service there will also be special music.

OPERA HOUSE OFFERINGS.

The Amusement Public Will Have Opportunity of Witnessing Two Magnificent Comedy Productions.

"The Wrong Mr. Wright"—Call a piece "The Wrong Mr. Wright" and explain that it is from the pen that gave us "What Happened to Jones" and "Why Smith Left Home" and most people will know at once that you indicate sheer boisterous farce, with some happy turns, a never-ceasing and always superlatively novel flow of fun and good spirits. Such, in fact, it is said, is the play by George H. Broadhurst. The piece will be presented here to-morrow, matinee and night, by Mr. John Allison, supported by an excellent cast, including these well known players: Maud Allison, Florence Marion, Ada Morton, H. G. Lockey, Geo. L. Kennedy, Jas. Newton Drew and Chas. Flynn.

The Gay Mr. Goldstein—When "The Gay Mr. Goldstein" will be seen at the Opera House local playgoers will have the unusual treat of seeing three stars presented in one organization. Mary Hampton, Thos. J. Keogh, and George C. Boniface, Jr., have combined, and under Henry Greenwall's management will have distinct characterizations in this comedy novelty which is in no way similar to the plays treating the Hebrew as its theme for merriment in the presentation of the lower and unrefined elements and surroundings that have been previously offered, but on the contrary, the atmosphere in which the author has laid his scenes and happenings is of the most cultured kind and promises a series of amusing incidents and complex situations from which arise continued mirth without resorting to the slightest stage of vulgarism, ridicule or exaggeration, which will give to the theatre a novelty in comedy plays that will undoubtedly be appreciated. Seats on sale to-morrow morning at Gerken's.

RALEIGH LODGE OF ELKS.

Antlered of Wilmington Who Assisted in the Institution Got Home Safely. About the District Deputy.

The contingent of Wilmington Elks which went to "Raleigh Town" Tuesday to assist District Deputy Gerken in the institution of Raleigh Lodge No. 735, got home yesterday via the Seaboard Air Line, and all are enthusiastic over their trip to and entertainment in the Capital City. In the party besides the "D. D." were Edgar Bear, Louis Stein, Wm. J. Bellamy, Gus. Danenbaum, Thomas Carroll, Julius P. Taylor, Thomas H. Wright, J. L. Solomon, Adolph Goodman, J. D. Edwards and Jack Burnette.

The day was consumed in the revelation of the mysteries of Elkdom to the charter members who are twenty-nine in number and at night an elegant banquet was given at the Yarboro. Among the toasts were: "The Absent Brother" by Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq., and "The Best People On Earth" by District Deputy Gerken.

In speaking of the District Deputy, the News and Observer of yesterday says:

"The institution and installation of Raleigh Lodge, No. 735, was a most successful one in every respect, and everywhere credit was given to the District Deputy H. J. Gerken, who is a model officer in every respect. Mr. Gerken is one of the most enthusiastic and earnest Elks in the country and no man has done more to make the order strong in the South than he. North Carolina Elks, who are growing rapidly, are proud of Mr. Gerken."

RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Home of Mrs. R. A. Orrell a Complete Loss, With Contents.

Fire which started from a defective flue at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning almost completely destroyed the one-story frame residence owned and occupied by Mrs. R. A. Orrell, No. 609 South Second street. An alarm was sent to the department from box 45 but at the time most of the apparatus was in the extreme northern part of the city in response to an alarm calling the department to a small blaze on the roof of a house at 1310 North Fifth street. When the wagons and chemical engine reached Mrs. Orrell's residence after a run of nearly two miles it was too late to stop the flames before considerable damage was done.

Mrs. Orrell had the building insured for $500 in agencies represented by Col. Walker Taylor, but there was no insurance on furniture and household goods which were a complete loss.

The residence next door, occupied by Mr. Thos. Skipper and owned by Mrs. Allen, was damaged to a slight extent.

LIEUTENANT NEWCOMB'S REWARD.

The New York Herald, under a Washington date line, prints the following in regard to Lieut. F. H. Newcomb, who has many friends here and who married Miss Prioleau, of Southport:

"The only gold medal authorized by Congress for heroic conduct during the war with Spain was sent to-day to Lieutenant Frank H. Newcomb, now in Patchogue, N. Y., by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor.

"Lieutenant Newcomb commanded the revenue cutter Hudson and rescued the officers and crew of the torpedo boat Winslow from a very perilous position off Cardenas, Cuba, while the action of May 11, 1898, was in progress. To each of the officers under Lieutenant Newcomb was awarded a silver medal and to each member of his crew a bronze medal."

MRS. KATE D. WHITING

Wife of Distinguished Confederate General Died in This City Yesterday Morning.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON.

Death Entirely Unexpected and is Greatly Deplored by Hosts of Friends—Her Life Was Devoted to Memory of Her Husband.

The community was saddened yesterday morning at the announcement of the unexpected death of Mrs. Catherine D. Whiting, wife of the late General William Henry Chase Whiting, C. S. A., which occurred at her home, No. 111 South Fourth street, this city, during the early hours of the day. The death was very sudden and came for that reason as a shock all the more pronounced to members of her family and hundreds of friends. Upon the advice of her physician she was out walking as was her custom, Wednesday afternoon, but returning home she complained of feeling very unwell and retired to her room. She was attended during the night but in no wise was her condition regarded as serious. When a member of the family went into her room yesterday morning to inquire of her feeling, it was found that her spirit had taken its flight to another world. Physicians pronounce the cause of her death as heart disease. The news of her passing away quickly spread in the city and the large number of friends who called at the home during the day attested the very great esteem in which she was held by those who enjoyed her acquaintance.

Mrs. Whiting was born in Wilmington and died in the sixty-sixth year of her age. She was a daughter of the late Maj. John Walker and Mrs. Eliza Morehead Walker and belonged to one of the most influential and prominent families in the State. She was a grand-daughter of General Thomas Davis, of Fayetteville, and a grand niece of Col. John Walker, who was an aide on the staff of General Washington. Her father, Major John Walker, was a son of Thomas Walker, and Ann Wadehouse, of Northumberland, England, and was born in Browick-on-Tweed in 1779 and died in 1862.

Mrs. Whiting was married to General Whiting in April 1837, only a few years before the cruel war which deprived her of a devoted husband and the Confederacy of a gallant soldier and officer. General Whiting was a native of Mississippi and graduated with distinction and after a brilliant career at West Point in 1845. In a class of forty-five he stood first. He had the highest average in his studies ever attained at West Point up to that time and his marking was "maximum" in everything academic.

When the Civil War broke out he cast his lot with the Confederacy and was at different times Major General commanding a division of the army of Northern Virginia and of troops in Wilmington. He was in both battles at Fort Fisher and in its fall he received a wound which ultimately resulted in his death March 10th, 1865, in a Federal prison at Governor's Island, New York, to which he was taken. Only last year his remains were brought to Wilmington and interred in Oakdale.

Since the death of her husband Mrs. Whiting had devoted her life to his memory and her affection for him was touching. Her character was a noble one and all who knew her loved her. She had been in ill health since Spring but her death was not expected.

Of her immediate family a brother and two sisters survive. They are Capt. Alves Walker, Mrs. Fred Fosgate and Mrs. John Cowan. She is also survived by a number of nephews and nieces as follows, Miss Hanna P. Bolles, Mrs. J. E. Reinburg, Mrs. Alice L. Everett and Miss Maria Walker, of this city; Mrs. R. Duval Jones, of Newbern; Messrs. James H. and Robert H. Cowan, of Wilmington; Mr. Jno. W. Bolles, of Hong Kong, China; Mr. William B. Walker, of Manila, P. I.; and Platt D. Walker, Esq., of Charlotte.

The funeral will be conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. James' Episcopal Church, with interment in Oakdale cemetery.

By request of the president, members of Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, will assemble at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Wilmington Light Infantry armory for the purpose of attending the funeral in a body.

At the City Rock Quarry.

A very fine grade of rock and one very much superior to the kind that has been mined for the past several months, is now being dug from the city rock quarry in East Wilmington. The quarry is being worked about four feet deeper than ever before and as a result of the extra labor a blue formation of phosphate rock has been found which is unexcelled for macadamizing purposes. It is being used in bringing the work down Princess street from Ninth.

Lieut. Wootten Better.

Rev. Edward Wootten was in receipt yesterday of very encouraging news from his son, Lieutenant Bradley J. Wootten, U. S. A., who is near Havana. The news is that Lieut. Wootten is decidedly better. His physicians are hopeful and say that the crisis is past.

LOCAL DOTS.

— The steamer E. A. Hawes left Fayetteville at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon with a cargo of cotton for Wilmington.

— As the STAR employs no travelling agents, bills are sent direct to subscribers. These bills should receive prompt attention.

— Wilmington truckers are now beginning to ship lettuce in appreciable quantities. The prices are ranging from $2 to $3 per basket.

— The schooner Harold J. McCarty cleared yesterday with a cargo of lumber, consigned by the master to parties in Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

— Florence Times, 19th: "Mr. George S. LeGrand has been appointed acting general auditor of the A. C. L., with headquarters at Wilmington."

— The "Royal Grand Bouncers" of the Naval Reserves will give their annual banquet Thanksgiving night. An initiation ceremony will be one of the features.

— Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son yesterday cleared the British steamship Polano for Liverpool, Eng., with a cargo of 9,433 bales of cotton, valued at $552,000.

— The schooner C. C. Lane, Capt. Kelly, bound from Fernandina to New York, is at Norfolk for repairs, having met a severe storm off Cape Hatteras, during which she sprang a leak.

— Mr. J. H. Milliken is building a new steamboat at Shallotte for the Wilmington trade. She is 45 feet long, 14 feet beam and will be equipped with a gasoline engine and auxiliary sails.

— Southport Standard: "When the flood of water from the dredging machine was washing over the sea-wall from the fill at Fort Caswell yesterday, about 150 feet of the sea-wall toppled over on the sea-side."

— A classified civil service examination for the postoffice service was held by the local examiner here Wednesday. Only three applicants presented themselves, two for the position of clerk and one for carrier.

— Pursuant to an order by Col. W. B. Rodman, commanding the Second Regiment, N. C. S. G., the Wilmington Light Infantry will hold an election to night to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of First Lieutenant J. VanB. Metts. Members of the company will report at the armory at 8 o'clock in uniform.

NO FOOTBALL THANKSGIVING.

The Game With North Carolina Military Academy Has Been Called Off.

Unless the unexpected happens there'll be no "pig skin chasing" in Wilmington on Thanksgiving. And what will a Thanksgiving in Wilmington be without football?

Those were the questions with which the local sporting element yesterday interested itself. The game with the Red Springs Military Academy which was appointed for Thanksgiving and for which practices had begun has been called off for the reason that no suitable grounds can be had unless a larger amount is expended for improvement than the local management thinks a one-game schedule will warrant. It was very reluctantly that the management called off the game but there was no alternative and therefore it had to be done.

It is likely that a large contingent of the local cranks will go to Charlotte on Thanksgiving to witness the championship game between Carolina and Clemson.

AT SOUTHPORT THANKSGIVING.

Corner Stone Laying by Odd Fellows' Lodge—Special Excursion.

The Southport Standard of yesterday has the following to say of the corner-stone laying in that town next Thursday:

Atlantic Lodge of Odd Fellows will lay the corner-stone to their new lodge building on Moore street on Thursday next. The building is not yet completed, but that day, Thanksiving, was selected as being a very appropriate day for the ceremonies with which the exercises will be given.

Past Grand Master Marcus W. Jacobi, of Wilmington, will act as grand master in the services of laying the corner-stone. A choir has been selected to aid in the exercises, and the Southport Cornet Band will also furnish music. It is not yet known who the orator of the day will be, but there will be an orator present.

Arrangements have been made with Captain Harper to run an excursion here that day, leaving Wilmington at 9:45 A. M., and returning leave here at 3:30 P. M. If the weather is good the prospect is fair for a large number from Wilmington.

The ladies will serve lunch and oysters across the street from the building for the benefit of the building fund.

Committees from the four lodges of Odd Fellows in the city have already begun preparations for sending their annual Thanksgiving contribution to the children of the Orphanage at Goldsboro. FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 22.

AMERICA AS A SHIP BUILDER.

While the subsidy schemers are working to get a pull on the Treasury for $9,000,000 a year for twenty years or more, American ship yards are going along as busy as they can be and with more work than they can do. As an evidence of their enterprise the Lake yards are competing with the seacoast yards in the building of ocean-going vessels. One of them on Lake Erie recently took the contract from the seacoast yards and built an ocean-going ship so long that it had to be cut in two to go through the canal locks.

There is one thing beyond question and that is that our ship yards now in operation do not need any subsidies or Government help of any kind in their business, and another thing beyond question is that American ship yards can build ships of any description as cheaply as they can be built anywhere in the world. Those who are scheming for subsidies may say they can't, but when they say that they mean that they cannot compete with European ship builders and make as large profits as they make on the vessels built for our lake and coast service, in which they have no foreign competition. When one of the Cramps, in going through one of the Scotch yards, remarked that the American yards could not build ships as cheaply as his yard could, his escort, one of company, replied that they could if the owners of those yards would be satisfied with as small profits as the European builders made and not insist on three or four times as much.

The would-be subsidy grabbers admit that our ship yards are doing a flourishing business, that they have all they can do and more, but they say this is on lake and coasting vessels, because they are protected from foreign competition in this, but are not building any ocean-going vessels. This is not strictly true because they are building some ocean-going vessels, some five-masted sailers—immense ships—which are coming into demand, and some steamers, in the latter of which they compete with European yards.

If they are not building more, it is because they have not the orders and this is not because they cannot build them at reasonable prices, but because for some time past the profits on ocean-carrying have fallen so low that Americans, who want large profits, have not been tempted to invest in ocean-going vessels, for the ordinary trade. It is said that ocean freights are lower now than they have been for a long time, and if this be so, Americans will not be rushing to invest their money in new ships to compete with ships that are glad to carry cargoes at almost any price.

American money has been and is now being invested in ships, not in new ships to increase the tonnage, but in ships that are now in service. J. Pierpont Morgan has been buying English lines of steamers and negotiating for German lines, the object being to consolidate, as he has been consolidating the railroads, with a view to ultimately controlling transportation on the marine high ways, as he counts on controlling transportation on the land high ways.

While these conditions exist and freights are as low as they are now said to be, we need not look for any extraordinary activity in the building of ocean-going ships. We might pay subsidies to the amount of millions a year, and while that might and doubtless would stimulate ship building and add some very fine ships, and some others not so fine, but really more useful, to our merchant marine, it would not give us supremacy in the ocean carrying business nor even the exclusive control of our own carrying trade. While we do as large export trade as we do, a trade which is annually increasing, we must necessarily do much of it in foreign bottoms. To avoid that we must have ships enough to rush our exports as we rush our exportable crops from the interior to the seaboard, and that would require so many ships that some of them would be laid up in the dull seasons, or run to carry such freights as they might find at any price, which would not suit an American owner. The result would be that American exporters would be compelled to employ foreign ships and to get low rates would find it necessary to load their ships both coming and going. These ships then would be competing with American ships and they would be helped in the competition by American employers, just as American employers now use foreign ships because they can get cheaper service out of them than they can out of American ships.

In our commerce with other nations which have merchant marines we must necessarily employ to a greater or less extent their ships. But this will not prevent us from eventually competing on the high seas just as we have competed in other industries where European nations once had the lead of us; but this is a business that cannot be rushed in a few years, for ships cost money and they must have cargoes and cargoes enough to keep them employed the year 'round. The expansion of commerce must move jointly with the building of ships. Ships cannot make commerce, while commerce can make ships. The more obstacles to commerce are removed the better the chance for business for American ships will be and the more the encouragement to build them. Without ample commerce to support them all the subsidies that could or would be granted would not build a merchant marine or keep it afloat.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND THE TRUSTS.

We have little doubt that if President Roosevelt were governed strictly by his own notions on the question of trusts he would advise some legislation that might have the effect of drawing the line between the ordinary combination of capital in industrial enterprises and the combination with monopolistic tendencies, which aims to control the market and take advantage of its opportunities to levy extortionate tribute on those who are compelled to have dealings with it. We can only judge of the position he might take by his utterances on that question heretofore, such as the following:

"We do not wish to put any burden on honest corporations. Neither do we wish to put any unnecessary burden of responsibility on enterprising men for acts which are immaterial. They should be relieved from such burdens, but held to a rigid financial accountability for facts that mislead the upright investor or stockholder or defraud the public."—Mr. Roosevelt's message to the New York Legislature, January, 1900.

"The first thing is to find out the facts and for this purpose publicity as to capitalization, profits and all else of importance to the public is the most useful measure. The mere fact of this publicity would of itself remedy certain evils, and as to others it would in some cases point out the remedies, and would, at least, enable us to tell whether or not certain proposed remedies would be useful. The State governments can do a great deal, and where they decline to co operate the national government must step in."—Mr. Roosevelt's letter of acceptance, September, 1900.

"More and more it is evident that the State, and if necessary, the nation has got to possess the right of supervision and control the regards the great corporations which are its creatures, particularly as regards the great business combinations which derive a portion of their importance from the existence of some monopolistic tendency."—Mr. Roosevelt in Minneapolis, September 4, 1901.

These utterances all show that Mr. Roosevelt realizes that there are such combinations as are ordinarily known as trusts, and that some of these combinations are taking advantage of their opportunities to oppress the public and make unreasonable profits as a result of the monopoly they enjoy. He believes that such combinations come within the purview of the laws passed to protect the people, and that they should be supervised and controlled by State and Federal authorities in the interest of the people who need protection.

But since Mr. Roosevelt has become President much pressure has been brought to bear on him to prevent him from recommending legislation that would hamper the trusts. While he is a man who has decided opinions on public questions, he is also a politician, and it remains to be seen what effect this pressure may have had in modifying his views on that question.

THE SOUTH DAKOTA CASE.

As the Supreme Court of the United States has given South Dakota permission to come into court and sue for the ten Western North Carolina bonds it holds, valued at $1,000 each, the interest hinges on what the effect of a decision in favor of South Dakota might be, whether it would apply simply to those ten bonds or to all of the bonds of that class outstanding, of which there are supposed to be about $300,000 worth, all of the rest of the $1,713.000 worth issued by the State in aid of the Western road having been compromised on 25 per cent. basis under the compromise act of 1879. The State still owns 30,000 shares of the stock, worth $3,000,000, and each of these bonds is a second mortgage on ten shares of the State's stock, so that if the suit goes against the State it would be simply required to sell some of its shares, which are now said to be worth $170 a share, to pay up, if it concluded to do that, so that the State could not be so badly hurt even if the decision of the court covered the entire $300,000 worth of bonds outstanding. In commenting on this the Raleigh Post, which seems to be pretty well posted, says:

"As the Post has said before, less than, certainly not more than $300,000 of the bonds involved in this suit are outstanding. If the Supreme Court shou'd decide that the case must be heard on its merits, then it remains to determine whether a decision would comprehend all the outstanding bonds or only the ten owned and sued on by the State of South Dakota. In any event, if the worst should come and the court sustain the contention of the bond-holders, we cannot believe that court the could or would require more of the stock of the State than would be necessary to pay the debt, and this would leave the State the owner of a good majority of all the stock of the road. This upon the hypothesis that the State would prefer to sell enough stock to pay the debt rather than use other moneys to be provided otherwise. Gov. Aycock stated to the Post representative last Friday that the State would not part with any of its stock. This would imply that, in case the pending suit should go against the State and payment of these bonds—in part or all—should become necessary, the State would prefer the alternative of paying them other than by selling any of the State's holdings in the North Carolina Railroad, in which we think the Governor is right.

"The rights of this State will be carefully and vigorously defended by the Governor. No one doubts that, yet neither the Governor nor any one else can assume or know just what the court will decide in the matter. There is one thing to a dead moral certainty, if the Supreme Court says those bonds must be paid, they will be paid; in what way will be a matter for the State legislature to decide."

Mr. Parker, one of Admiral Schley's counsel, in speaking of Judge Advocate Lemly's methods in the court of inquiry, said that notwithstanding his disclaimer in his closing speech, Lemly did his best to bring out testimony against Schley, as if he were on trial under charges, and to suppress testimony favorable to him. In some instances mistakes were made in summoning witnesses, and when it was found they could not or would not testify against Schley they were dismissed and one was dismissed with an injunction to secrecy. He told Schley's court about it. The judge advocate's bias was manifest throughout the whole business.

An exchange remarks that while in this country we are quarrelling about the large surplus in the Treasury, European nations are worried over the deficits. But in this country a large surplus in the Treasury means a correspondingly large deficit in the pockets of the people, and the average man thinks a good deal more about his own pocket than he does about the Treasury.

The shoe makers and dealers in Vienna are in tribulation because of a scheme to establish a number of American shoe stores in that city. A big meeting was held the other night in which resolutions were passed declaring that the Austrian shoe makers would resist this American invasion to the last.

Lord Rosebery said in a recent speech that he would like to see a British cabinet composed of business men like Carnegie and Sir Thomas Lipton. It would undoubtedly be a very decided improvement on the average British cabinet.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— General Maso, it appears, is able to see through a whitewashed grindstone. In his address to the Cubans in advocacy of his candidacy for President he tells them that Cuba "can never be an independent State, in any true sense, under the Platt amendment." He is right, of course. It was never intended to be independent in any true sense.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

—— Huntsville, Ala., is rejoicing because only one death occurred in that city during the past fifty days. We have no hesitancy in saying that Huntsville is one of the most beautiful, charming little cities in the South; but we would warn our neighbors that sometimes there's such a thing as being too healthy. A few natural demises sometimes add to a city's progressiveness and public spirit.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

—— Those who complain that the stupid people insist on giving Schley due credit for his part in the victory of Santiago, may take comfort in the reflection that the "honor" is an empty one so far as dollars and cents are concerned. Sampson has already drawn $32,000 in prize money while Schley is to get only $5,000. Moreover, Schley has spent all his savings from an active career of forty-five years and borrowed money besides in his effort to clear his name from the reproach cast upon it by ward room gossips. Schley gets the honor and Sampson the coin.—Macon Telegraph, Dem.

—— One of the brutalities of the tariff which shuts Canadian products out of our markets is the duty on cattle and hides. The prices of beef have at times been forced so high in this country as to put it out of the reach of thousands of toilers. Yet the Canadian cattle growers in the vast ranching country northwest of the lakes are clamoring for the opportunity to sell their surplus in our market, and are ready to take in exchange the manufactured goods they need. What folly to erect barriers against such mutually profitable trade!—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

The Home Beer

Whatever you drink outside, let your home beer be Schlitz. That is pure beer. No bacilli in it—nothing to make you bilious.

Beer is a saccharine product, and the germs multiply rapidly in it. The slightest taint of impurity quickly ruins its healthfulness.

We go to the utmost extremes to prevent that. Cleanliness is a science where Schlitz beer is brewed.

We even cool the beer in plate glass rooms in nothing but filtered air.

Then we filter the beer. Then we sterilize every bottle.

And Schlitz beer is aged. The beer that makes you bilious is green beer.

When you order a beer for your home, get the healthfulness without the harm. Get a pure beer—get an old beer—get Schlitz. Call for the Brewery Bottling.

When the train stopped at Fremont he got off to speak to some friends, and in trying to get back on the train he fell and the wheels of one truck passed over his leg.

— Chatham Record: Not as many hogs as usual will be killed in Chatham county this winter, but they will be killed earlier than usual because of the scarcity of corn with which to feed them. Hundreds of hogs have died of cholera this year, and very few farmers will kill as many as usual. —— Three divorces were granted this term of the Superior Court in cases in which there was no defence. These three cases were John Gunter against Mary Jane Gunter, Benjamin Page against Cornelia Page and Henry Taylor against Martha Taylor. All the parties to these cases were colored. And by the way it is a sad commentary on our easy divorce laws to state that out of the 27 cases on our civil issue docket seven of them (or over one-fourth) were divorces.

— Charlotte Observer: Col. Jno. Morehead died of heart disease at the Buford Hotel last Wednesday night at five minutes past eight o'clock. Death was instantaneous. Col. Morehead was sitting on the lounge that runs along the side of the hotel lobby. On either side of him were Mr. H. C. Eckles, one of the proprietors of the hotel, and Mr. W. G. Miller, of Pittsburg, Pa. Col. Morehead was talking casually or laughingly, when suddenly his cane dropped from his hands he leaned heavily against Mr. Eccles. His body lurched and would have fallen forward to the floor but for the quick support of Mr. Eccles' arm. Col. Morehead breathed heavily for a few seconds. A number of people were in the hotel lobby and these at once rushed to the assistance of the stricken man. Physicians were summoned and in a few minutes three or four had arrived. They said that death had been immediate and was resultant from heart disease. Col. Morehead was 67 years of age and was a son of the late Governor J. M. Morehead. He was born at Greensboro and lived there until he entered the State University.

BREEDING OF SWINE.

Errors to Avoid in Making Selection of Animals.

Professor W. J. Kennedy of the University of Illinois, discussing swine breeding, said:

Too much attention cannot be paid to the proper mating of breeding animals in order to secure good results. This will apply more to the selection of the sire than the sows, for his influence is very great in the herd and will determine to a very large extent the type of the whole herd. Avoid the common error of today in selecting a fine boned hog. Progeny from such a sire will not bear up the load of a well developed body, particularly when being transported to market. In making the selection of a sire always bear in mind the type you already have in your herd on the part of the sows. Are they too long in the body, too high off the ground, too fine in the bone, too short in the body, lacking in constitution? Select a boar of the opposite type to correct these evils. I cannot lay too much stress upon the matter of judicious mating.

The evil results which follow in or close breeding are numerous and very marked. A weakened constitution generally results, and thus the animal becomes more susceptible to disease. Sterility oftentimes follows such a method of breeding, as does deterioration in the size of the animal. When animals are strong in constitution and of good size, an in cross may prove beneficial, but it should not be indulged in too often, for undesirable results are sure to follow its continued use.

A grade sire should never be used, no matter how good an individual he may be. To use such a sire is gambling on the part of the breeder, for there are nine chances of his being a failure to one of his proving satisfactory. Such a sire lacks prepotency, which is the power to reproduce his like with any degree of certainty. Always bear in mind that the sire is half the herd. Thus it is of vital importance that he be a good individual, with the best blood possible in his veins.

How to Repress Spasmodic Cough.

For the suppression of the spasmodic cough that often seizes one at the most inopportune time, refusing to yield to cough drops or will power, try this new remedy: Pour a few drops of oil of peppermint on a bit of cotton and put in a small earthen jar or glass bottle, covering tightly. Carry in your pocket. When you feel the coughing fit coming on, inhale the peppermint, holding close to the nostrils. Cover closely again, that it may not evaporate. This has the same effect as the Chinese camphor of peppermint or menthol.

How to Make Salad Dressing.

Half cupful of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of mustard, a pinch of cayenne pepper, one cupful of milk, half cupful of butter and three eggs. Put in the double boiler the milk and butter. Beat up the yolks of the eggs together with the mustard, salt, sugar and pepper and add to the melted butter and milk. Heat the vinegar separately and add little at a time to the mixture, adding whites of eggs last of all. When done, it will be thick, like custard.

How to Make Corn Bread.

One-half cupful of flour, one cupful of cornmeal (yellow), one rounded tablespoonful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix thoroughly. Have ready one tablespoonful of melted butter and one egg, well beaten. Add to the dry mixture one cupful of milk, the egg and butter and beat all until well mixed. Turn into a well greased shallow pan and bake about 30 minutes. Cut into squares and serve hot.

How to Jelly Chicken.

Boil until tender in enough water to cover one chicken. Remove when done and let water boil down to one quart. Cut the meat into small pieces. To the water add three-quarters of a box of gelatin soaked, one tablespoonful worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Slice one hard boiled egg and add to the chicken. Pour over it the strained liquor; mix well and put in square mold and set in cool place to harden.

Know that in spite of hard work in the clear forest air the blood often becomes impure. The heavy food served in the lumber camps is to a great extent responsible for this condition of the blood, which renders the body an easy prey to many forms of disease. It cures absolutely and altogether by cleansing the blood from the poisons which breed and feed disease.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is no other medicine "just as good" for the blood.

Food Value of Eggs.

Texas Farm and Ranch gives this scientific calculation: The amount of nutritive material which a given number of eggs will furnish at any stated price per dozen may be readily calculated. When eggs are 10 cents per dozen, 10 cents expended in this food will furnish 1 pound total food material containing 0.13 pound protein and 0.09 pound fat, the whole having a fuel value of 635 calories. At 25 cents per dozen 10 cents' worth of eggs will furnish 0.00 pound total food material, supplying 0.08 pound of protein, 0.05 pound of fat and furnish 275 calories. Ten cents expended for beef at 8 cents per pound will furnish 1.25 pound total food material, containing 0.24 pound protein, 0.16 pound fat and 1,120 calories. Expended for beef sirloin at 20 cents per pound, it will furnish 0.5 pound total food matter, containing 0.08 pound protein, 0.09 pound fat, 1.06 pound carbohydrates and 2,430 calories.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, November 21.—The cotton market opened firm with prices four to six points higher, in sympathy with an unexpected bulge in Liverpool and for a time held its rise on active covering and some new buying, the latter led by Wall street and the South. But as investment orders did not come in as freely as desired, soon longs sold for profit later in the forenoon, causing a sharp reaction By midday the opening advance had been regained and sentiment was emphatically bullish. Liverpool sent buying orders in addition to its bullish market news, and the South, too, bought cotton here. Receipts at interior towns were of the short crop type, the offerings of spot cotton in the interior were at higher prices only and advices from dry goods centers were favorable. In the afternoon the bull cause gained fresh impetus from active Southern buying and an influx of Wall street orders. A late cable from Liverpool declared the demand from China and India for goods in Manchester surprisingly large and that spinners were bare of supplies. From 7.54 January rapidly advanced to 7.63 on this news, with other months improving in proportion. Shorts displayed intense nervousness and after vain attempts to stay the rise, turned in retreat. Fears that Liverpool will come much higher to-morrow morning thoroughly undermined bear confidence and stimulated active buying. Whereas, speculation was very dull in the morning, business in the afternoon broadened out in a most satisfactory manner. The close was firm, with prices one to thirteen points higher.

How To Get Rich.

The men who are rich to-day, were, in nine cases out of ten, poor in early life. Their earnings at first very small, but their expenses were still less; the difference was carefully saved, deposited in some safe place, made to yield interest, and thus foundations were slowly laid for large accumulations. When a man begins to spend less than he makes his good fortune begins, and his luck favors him. There is no way to begin to save so sure as to put your money in a safe place. We claim to be such a place and invite investigation. Money deposited now draws 4 per cent. from December 1st.

TYPICAL BEEF BREED

FORM WHICH CHARACTERIZES THIS CLASS OF CATTLE.

Points to Consider In Selecting Good Animals—Flesh, Not Fat, Is What Is Wanted—Breeds That Give Best Results—Color of Hoofs.

You may ask me to describe the form of a good beef animal, says A. B. Matthews of Kansas before the state board of agriculture. You readily understand it is easier to know good beef animals when seen than to describe them, but I will try to do so in part very briefly. The muzzle should be broad, the nostrils large, indicating good lung power. The shorter from the nostril to the eye the better the animal will feed. Long nosed animals of any kind are hard to keep.

The eye should be large, full and quiet. The forehead should be broad, but not long. The horns, if they have any, should be small. Better have the cattle without horns. The jaws should be broad, the neck short, neat and well set into the body. A surplus amount of hide about the neck is very objectionable.

The fore legs should not come out of one hole, but be well spread apart. Yet the brisket should not protrude forward very much, as it is a low priced cut, carrying much tallow and little flesh. The ribs should be well sprung and run well back to the hip bone. This is a very important point which should not be overlooked, as much of the strength of the animal depends upon the coupling. The longer the animal the better if the ribs run close to the hip bone. The hip bones should not be prominent and should be well covered with flesh, not tallow. From the coupling to the root of the tail the animal should be of good width and as level as possible. The tail should be strong and not too prominent at the root. A slim tail indicates a delicate constitution. The tail is only an extension of the backbone, and a slim tail also indicates a weak backbone.

The hind quarters should be well meated down to the hock—in fact, hammed like a well formed Berkshire hog.

The hind legs should be nearly straight and well spread apart, thus insuring a good twist. The legs should be short and just of sufficient size to carry the body. The hide should be of good thickness, mellow and well covered with soft hair. The top and bottom line should be as near straight as possible. The hoof should be of good size and of dark color. A white hoof on a horse will wear off much sooner than one of darker color even on the same animal. Many in the audience no doubt have noticed this fact. I have a horse with one white hoof and three dark ones, and I think three shoes are required for the white foot to two for the darker feet. One last point—we want a flesh producer and not a fat producer.

We do not eat tallow. We want flesh, or rather we want it intermingled. If you find an animal with the above points, you will find a valuable beef producing animal, I care not what breed you may call it. The problem of breeding flesh producing animals is more easily practiced than explained. We have learned that we can breed animals with any peculiarity. If it were desired to produce tallow, we should select those cattle which carried abundance of tallow on their hips and backs and cross these tallow producing animals and continue the process for a few generations. The tendency to produce tallow would become chronic.

The cattle breeder should readily see what the packer has learned and acts upon when buying, that well marbled beef sells for 12 to 18 cents per pound, while tallow sells for 2 to 3 cents. One thing I have observed about cattle. If, when they are in moderately good flesh, they have small patches of tallow on either side of the root of the tail, when they become fully matured they will develop patches of fat just where the highest priced meat should be found. They will also have a thick layer of tallow both on the outside and inside of a small quantity of edible meat.

You ask which is the best beef breed. If you take an animal of any one of the four breeds, Shorthorn, Aberdeen-Angus, Hereford or Galloway, that has the points as given in the former part of the paper, you will have a money making beef animal. Remember, pedigree without good, juicy flesh would not command the top price.

How to Polish Furniture.

When a polished table is stained by a hot dish, one restoring process is to use first wood alcohol and then linseed or olive oil. This treatment is excellent for keeping any polished furniture in order and is one of the few things for which wood alcohol may be used. The latter is cheaper than the pure and for certain domestic uses is quite as good.

How to Make Soft Gingerbread.

Cream one-half cup of butter and lard, mixed with one cup of sugar. Add a cup of molasses, a cup of sour milk, a teaspoonful of baking soda dissolved in a little boiling water, two teaspoonfuls each of powdered cinnamon and ginger, a teaspoonful each of powdered cloves and nutmeg and three cups of flour. Bake in a loaf.

How to Make Clam Toast.

Chop up two dozen Little Necks fine; simmer for 30 minutes in hot water enough to cover them. Beat up the yolks of two eggs; add a little cayenne and a gill of warmed milk; dissolve half a teaspoonful of flour in a little cold milk; simmer all together. Pour over buttered toast and serve.

SHEEP ON THE FARM.

With a Little Care They Are a Source of Profit.

Of all domestic animals sheep are the greatest fertilizers, the best scavengers and the easiest kept with the least expense of any live stock on the farm, says W. Watson in Wool Markets and Sheep. My own experience has taught me that they are not only the farmer's relief from hard work, but that they will pay for all the care and all the feed that are given them in the way of manure.

There can be found on almost every farm in the land some rough and hilly ground that is not producing as it should, and all that land could in a short time be made as valuable as the rest by the pasturing and feeding of a few sheep thereon, for they will seek the highest points, and there they will scatter their manure better and evener than can be done in any other way. It is my opinion that a farm can maintain a flock of sheep, say one sheep to every two acres, at comparatively no cost whatever, and they will bring him from $3 to $5 per head each year, so that on every farm of 100 acres 50 sheep can be kept, and they will pay in manure for every bit of feed and all the care, and the farmer is ahead from $150 to $200 each year.

I believe the worst trouble experienced by many shepherds is the feeding of corn to their sheep. Corn should never be fed to breeding sheep under any circumstances. The best and cheapest feed is bran and oats mixed equal parts with good clover hay or corn fodder. Good shelter from storms should not be neglected. They must also have good water to drink, for that is as necessary as feed.

CARE OF YOUNG STOCK.

Plenty of Exercise Necessary to Keep Them Growing.

The care includes the manner of feeding troughs, feed racks, curing of the hay and gathering of the crops, says a stock raiser in Kansas Farmer. In the manner of feeding growing stock it is very essential to have the feed in the best condition. I mean by that it should be clean and free from mold and clean utensils to feed from and in. The feed should be fresh and as clean as possible from dirt. Being regular in time of feeding is an important point. Another thing is the amount fed each time.

I had a great deal rather feed too little than too much. This is true in young growing stock. It is very necessary that they are kept hungry and active, because it is through vital power that they digest and assimilate the food given them, and unless they are allowed to become hungry between feeding times they will lay around too much to develop their muscles and vital organs. So my plan is to feed all they will eat clean twice a day and then have a yard big enough that they can exercise and play in. Did you ever think how much good play does an animal? I am sure you all have noticed that all our young animals play a great deal if they are doing well.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I am now able to do all my housework." THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the sturdy with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember. Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, CELERY-KING. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

UNITED TEXTILE WORKERS.

Convention Completed Its Constitution and Elected Officers—Resolutions of National Interest Adopted.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, November 21.—At the session of the United Textile Workers of America to-day the convention completed the new constitution by which the different organizations of textile workers which have been united are to be governed hereafter. The following officers were elected: James Tansey, Fall River, Mass., president; S. P. Thompson, Columbia, S.C., first vice president; M. J. Connor, Thompsonville, Conn., second vice president; Albert Hibbert, Dover, N. H., secretary.

A number of resolutions on subjects of national interest were adopted, including the following:

Condemning the ship subsidy bill "as the worst form of class legislation, in that it proposes to tax all the people for the benefit of syndicated interests, whose overflowing coffers show that they are abundantly able to take care of themselves.

"That we stand by the doctrine of 'equal rights to all and special privileges to none,' and oppose all forms of subsidies and gratuities to private interests.

"Asking that Congress strengthen and re-enact the Chinese exclusion law, including in its provisions all Mongolian labor, and urging the passage by Congress of a law forbidding the immigration into this country of persons fifteen years of age and upward who cannot read the English language, or some other language.

GREEN GOODS BUSINESS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—John B. Bertholf, manager of the Eastern division of the Western Union Telegraph Company in Jersey City, N. J., was arrested to-day on the charge that he has been carrying on a green goods business. The complaint was made by Chief of Police Murphy. The police have in their possession several circulars sent to the South and West, and claim they can show that the telegraphic replies of prospective victims went direct to Bertholf.

Isaac Kershaw, a telegraph operator who transmitted some of the telegrams alleged to have been received by Bertholf and gave the police a statement against him, was also arrested on a charge similar to that preferred against the manager. Bail was fixed at $1,000 in each case.

COLORADO MINE DISASTER.

Twenty-three Bodies Have Been Recovered—No Hope of Finding Any Alive.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TELLURIDE, COL., Nov. 21.—Persons who came into town early to-day from the Smuggler Union mine, said the workers had almost abandoned the hope of finding any of the imprisoned men alive. Every entrance to the property is the scene of active work and repeated attempts are made to enter the mine, but in vain, as the men crawl back helpless and strangling from the foul smoke which fills the tunnels and levels. At a late hour to-day twenty-three bodies, all told, have been recovered. It is stated by one of the officers of the company that only three or four men are missing and that the total number of the dead will not exceed twenty-five.

COAL MINERS STRIKE.

Some of Their Number Were Discharged Because They Joined a Union.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Nov. 21.—A special from Coal Creek says 100 miners employed by the Knoxville Iron Company in the Cross Mountain coal mines went on a strike to-day. It is said the men claim that some of their number were discharged because they joined a mine workers' union recently organized. The officials of the company in Knoxville will not confirm the reported strike, but say the miners have been threatening to strike for several days. They deny that men were discharged because they joined the union.

MURDERER MATHIS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

OXFORD, MISS., November 21.—Will Mathis, charged with murdering the two deputy marshals and the burning of their bodies, and who surrendered himself to the authorities yesterday, was a witness before the coroner's jury to-day. When asked if he was sorry he had killed the two men he replied: "I am only sorry that I burned them."

It is believed that Mathis will be dealt with according to law.

THE SITUATION ON THE ISTHMUS.

Liberals Hold Colon, While Conservatives Are in Possession of Panama.

AND EVERYTHING IS QUIET.

No Immediate Attack On Panama Contemplated—U. S. Gunboat Machias Will Protect the Railroad and Foreign Interests.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

COLON, COLOMBIA, November 21.—The city of Colon was perfectly quiet all yesterday and last night. It is claimed in behalf of the Liberals that there has been no unseemly behavior. Foreigners are being respected and protected and transit across the isthmus is uninterrupted. The postoffice, prefecture, all the other government offices and nearly all the commercial houses were closed yesterday.

Col. Barrera, commander of the Liberal forces, asserts that he has notified the district representative of the department of the interior and other former officials of the government, that he has appointed a commission to take over their offices, formally, to-day. Senor Espriella, a prominent lawyer and counsel for the Panama railroad, is a member of the commission.

The feeling of the community cannot be regarded as antagonistic to Liberalism. The existing conditions have created no panic, but it is recognized that the fact that the Liberals hold Colon while the Conservatives are in possession of Panama creates a state of affairs which cannot possibly continue.

Col. Barrera admits that the government troops here numbered a little less than 120 men. It was at first reported that twelve or more men had been killed and that about thirty were wounded, but the bodies of more dead men have since been discovered.

Gen. Zaldana commands two hundred Liberal troops at Gutuan railroad station, about six miles from Colon.

The Liberals claim to be in possession of all the railroad stations between Colon and Las Cascades, which is nearer to Panama than to Colon. No immediate attack on Panama is contemplated. Col. Barrera is awaiting the arrival at Colon of the Liberal chief, Domingo Diaz, who is expected in a day or two. When Diaz reaches the city definite plans will be formulated.

The United States gunboat Machias, it is understood, will not interfere with any of the fighting, but will protect the railroad and foreign interest. A few armed Liberal troops left Colon by train this morning for Gutuan.

The government at Panama is still busy erecting breastworks in the vicinity of the railroad property, in the direction of which the Liberal attack is expected.

United States Consul Gen. Gudger, Captain Perry, of the United States battleship Iowa, and the secretaries of the government held a conference at Panama yesterday. The latter claimed that the conductors of the trains should not have allowed armed Liberals to embark on the train at Las Cascades. Captain Perry replied that the government should protect free transit on the Isthmus, and ought to have prevented the embarkation of the Liberals. Subsequently, a letter was sent to the Colombian authorities by the American officials with reference to future action. It is not improbable that the Iowa will shortly land a force to protect transit.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Secretary of the Navy has received the following cablegram from Capt. Perry, commanding the battleship Iowa, dated Panama, to-day:

"Everything quiet. No further interference since notification. Transit and telegraphic communication open. Colon in possession of Liberals and quiet."

The following cablegram was received at the State Department to-day from Consul General Gudger, dated Panama, to-day:

"Everything quiet. Communication restored and trains moving unmolested."

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—General Pedro Ospina and George Helguin, the former minister of war of Colombia and the latter formerly finance minister, have arrived here to confer with Gen. Reyes, a member of the Pan-American Congress. It is understood they will offer him the presidency of Colombia, assuring him that his taking office will bring peace to his country.

ORIZABA, MEXICO, Nov. 21.—Gen. Rafael Reyes, of Colombia, while on board a train between Fortin and Orizaba, on the Vera Cruz route, in company with other delegates to-day, was shown the Associated Press dispatch announcing the taking of Colon by the Colombian Liberals. Without attempting to minimize the importance of the news, Gen. Reyes said that the latest turn of affairs might easily prove to have been a trap laid by General Alban to catch the insurgents. Asked whether he would accept the presidency of Colombia and whether the Liberal success would cause any change in his plans, he said:

"I prefer not to say whether I will accept the presidency or not until I have conferred with Gen. Ospina and Gen. Holguin upon my return to Mexico City to-morrow. So far, I have declined the offer. I cannot say just now whether or not I may take a different view of the matter after conferring with my countrymen, but this latest event will not in any case affect my decision."

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Search Being Made at Elizabeth City, N. C., for Miss Nellie Cropsey.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., Nov. 21.—Miss Nellie Cropsey, daughter of W. H. Cropsey, mysteriously disappeared last night. The police and citizens are searching for her. The river was thoroughly dragged, but no clue as to her whereabouts has yet been found. A young man who has been paying court to the missing girl, was the last person seen in her presence. He was arrested upon suspicion and given a preliminary hearing, resulting in taking his own recognizance to appear daily before the Mayor. Chief of Police Dawson wired to Suffolk, Va., to-night for bloodhounds.

The Knoxville Journal and Tribune says: The prevailing ear famine on all Southern railroads threatens a salt famine. Local jobbers, anticipating heavy demands, have had orders at the mines since early in October, but as yet none have been filled.

DEMONSTRATION IN THE CITY OF ATHENS.

Against Proposal to Translate the Gospels into Modern Greek—Seven Killed and Many Wounded in Riots.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ATHENS, November 21.—Agitation agains the proposal to translate the gospels into modern Greek continued to-day. Twenty thousand persons assembled around the ruins of the Temple of Jupiter Olympus and took part in a demonstration organized by the students. A resolution was passed calling on the Holy Synod to excommunicate any person who translated the gospels into Greek as now spoken. Eight hundred marines were landed and co-operated with the troops in patrolling the locality. Several collisions occurred and occasional shots were fired.

During the encounters between the military and the turbulent demonstrators seven persons were killed, thirty were severely and many others slightly wounded.

Several shots were fired at M. Theotokis, the Greek premier, but without effect. Great excitement prevails to-night. Strong military detachments guard the palace and the residence of the premier. Everywhere anxious groups are discussing the situation. Heartrending scenes occurred when bodies of the dead were handed over to their relatives.

It is rumored that armed men have arrived at the university, but the building is still guarded by the students, who are adopting military discipline. Opposition deputies paraded the streets during the day, exciting the rioters by violent language.

There were no further disturbances during the evening, but it is feared that there will be a renewal of dis order to-morrow.

Among those slightly injured are the prefect of police of Athens and the prefect of Attica.

THE CASE OP MISS STONE.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

SOFIA, Nov. 21.—Mr. Dickinson, the diplomatic agent here of the United States, will leave Friday or Saturday of this week for Constantinople. There is obviously no prospect of a settlement with Miss Stone's abductors. The departure of Mr. Dickinson will probably have a good effect upon the brigands who have Miss Stone in their possession, as they may fear to lose everything by not accepting Mr. Dickinson's proposals.

MRS. LOLA BONINE TRIAL FOR MURDER

The Preliminary Presentation of the Case On Behalf of the Government.

THEORY OF THE PROSECUTION

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine, on the charge of killing James Seymour Ayres, Jr., was fairly launched to day. The preliminary presentation of the case on behalf of the government was made by assistant District Attorney Hugh T. Taggart, and after he had concluded a number of witnesses were heard. Mr. Taggart's statement consumed only about an hour and fifteen minutes and consisted for the most part of the review of the circumstances connected with the tragedy. Mr. Taggart stated the theory of the prosecution to be that Ayres was murdered by Mrs. Bonine, and that she gained admission to his room in the Kenmore Hotel through the window, reaching that by means of the fire-escape. He attempted to show that she was piqued by his non-attention to her. Mrs. Bonine apparently was unmoved by his representations. Once or twice during the address she leaned over and spoke to her attorneys. The witnesses of the day did not throw any new light upon the killing.

In his address Mr. Taggart contended that there was a tie between the prisoner and the dead man in the fact that Ayres was a student of chemistry and she had studied medicine. As a consequence, she became a frequent visitor to his room in the hotel where they both lived, not only in the daytime but at night as well, "and," he added, "the door was not always open when she was there." He told of quarrels between them, saying that Ayres ceased to speak to her and that

She Complained of His Ingratitude.

"We expect to show," he said, "that while she made advances to him, Ayres did not avail himself of the opportunity thus afforded beyond dancing with her again." He had danced with her on the night before the tragedy, but had shown that he was averse to a renewal of the former familiar intercourse. As an instance of his attitude toward Mrs. Bonine, Mr. Taggart said that Ayres had refused to accept a carnation from her on the Monday before the killing. It was, therefore, evident, said the speaker, that while he was indifferent there was a disposition on her part to mollify him.

"We will show," continued Mr. Taggart, "that every act step and proceeding on the part of the prisoner was the act of a guilty person."

Mr. Taggart referred to Mrs. Bonine's confession as being principally intended to exonerate herself. He thought the facts indicated that the shooting did not take place as Mrs. Bonine had stated; that Ayres had not gone to her room at all, as she claimed.

Outlining the government's position, Mr. Taggart said it would be contended that Ayres had retired when the person who killed him entred the room and that she came in through the window; that he arose and started towards her; that she shot him, the first wound being he fatal one in the breast. Naturally his mouth had filled with blood and as naturally he had put his hands to his mouth. Then he had grasped the pistol, thus accounting for the blood upon it.

Witnesses Called.

When Mr. Taggart had concluded Mr. Douglass amounced that the defence would reserve its presentation of the case.

Several ladies left the room while Mr. Taggart comented upon Mrs. Bonine's visit to Ayres' room, but their places were immediately taken by others.

Thomas Franci, the first witness in the case, was then called. He is a draughtsman who had prepared a diagram of the fouth floor of the Kenmore hotel, including Ayres' room. He identified the drawing and gave details concerning the location and dimensions of the room.

The first witnes in the afternoon session was Henry A. Wise, a photographer, who had made photographs of Ayres' room on the day after the tragedy occurred. The pictures taken by him were presnted and identified by the witness. Mr. Douglass objected to their acceptance as evidence on the ground that they did not represent the exact condition of the room when Ayres' body was discovered. He thought their presentation should be delayed until testimony should be taken showing whether the conditions were the same when the body was found and when the picture was made. The photographs were accepted by the court for the purpose only of showing the permanent physical conditions of the room when they were taken.

Julius Hack, another photographer, who had made photographs of the Kenmore Hotel, and of Ayres' room, also identified the pitures as by him, and they were admitted in evidence.

The first witness who testified about the events directly connected with the death of Ayres was Daniel Woodhouse, the colored waiter in the Kenmore Hotel, who described the body of the young man. He said that at 8:30 on the morning of May 15th, he was asked by Miss Mines, who occupied a room next to Ayres, to go to the latter's room, she saying that on the night before she had heard strange noise in the room. He first discovered the body by looking through the keyhole and afterward saw it through the transom. He also told of giving the alarm and of the subsequent investigation into the tragedy. He said that Ayres' body lay upon the floor and was doubled up.

ACCUSED OF MURDER OF HER DAUGHTER.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dale of Chicago Held in Hoboken, N. J., to Await Result of an Autopsy—Her Paramour.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, November 21.—Mrs. Elizabeth Dale, of Chicago, who was arrested last night in Hoboken, accused of the murder of her five-year old daughter Emeline, was arraigned to-day in Hoboken before Recorder Stanton. Mrs. Dale was accompanied by her lawyers, Russ and Heppeinheimer. Police Captain Hayes, who presented the charge against her, asked that the examination be adjourned pending the result of an autopsy which will be made by County Physician Converse. The adjournment was granted, and on recommendation of her physician she was sent to St. Mary's hospital, where she will be guarded until she is again called into court. E. L. Bert Waller, who was Mrs. Dale's companion when she arrived in Hoboken recently, and who was arrested yesterday on the charge of illicitly living with her, was arraigned in court and ordered committed to prison in default of $1,000 bail.

Mrs. Dale, pale and haggard, was led by two court officers into court. She was visibly nervous; her mouth twitched and she clutched the arm of her chair with a vice-like grip. She is of the blonde type, rather good looking, but appears a few years older than 34, the age she gave. She wore a tailor-made suit. She is slight of stature and her small figure trembled violently as the clerk read the grave charge against her. When she heard the word murder, her head fell back and she clutched the arm of her lawyer, who occupied a seat next to her. She called out faintly that she was ill. She asked that a physician be sent for and then fainted. She was revived after a minute or two and was then able to answer the few formal questions regarding her nativity, age and name.

Captain Hayes, of the Hoboken police, said to-night that he had failed to find any motive for the killing of the child by its mother if she did it. He said further: "All I know is that as soon as the father of the child was telegraphed that she was dead from poison he wired here through relatives for an investigation to be made and a charge of murder to be brought if the circumstances seemed to warrant it. We then began an investigation and found that Mrs. Dale and her husband had been at odds."

Mrs. Dale this afternoon sent a telegram to her husband in Chicago. It was clearly written in a steady hand and read: "Harvey, come on. This is horrrible treatment you are giving me."
